

I Can Do It!

2.0

"Learning begins with you."

Classroom Management

"I Can Do It 2.0: Classroom Management in the 21st Century" is a cornerstone program that addresses one of the most important aspects of education: creating a teaching and learning environment that engages students.

Relevant

CEA is currently updating the tried and true strategies of the program. New modules of study are technology and 21st century students and learning environments. Additionally, the program has benefited from an updated look and feel, giving it more appeal.

Modular

The program has been redesigned with a modular concept in mind that will allow participants to learn in chunks that are more manageable and interactive. Each module will present key concepts to making educators better in the classroom.

Digital

In addition to updated content and a redesigned look and feel, the program now offers digital resources in the form of an interactive e-book and online, blended follow up courses (both available in January 2015).

Saturday, October 1. 8:30 am to 3:30 pm. Lunch provided.

JCEA office, 1447 Nelson, Lakewood, CO 80215
Graduate credit (.5 credit hour) available through Adams State.

Cost: Non-members: $50.

JCEA members: $20 to hold your spot. Refundable after course completion.

